DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3,4/3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,2,4/(2,1) are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by either the Japanese '083 publication (Japan1) or the Japanese '036 publication (Japan2). Both Japan publications show a hydraulically operated member cooperating with a stationary member to crush material. Note for claim 4 that a member being 'configured' to rotate is not the same as claiming a means for rotating.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

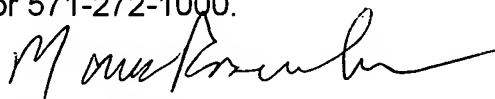

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4/(2,1) are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Japan1 or Japan2. For this rejection, providing a rotating means would have been obvious in order to ensure material crushing once the basic apparatus was known.
